Chairman's Message

Dear Resident:

As 2009 comes to an end, I'd like to share some important items that will come into effect in 2010. First and foremost is Census 2010. Ten questions, Ten minutes. That's all Census 2010 asks of each United States resident. In return, communities such as Twin Oaks get valuable information on how to make many planning decisions on issues including neighborhood and road improvements, emergency preparedness, public health and other services provided. The Village receives vital tax dollars based on this information. Beginning at the end of January, households throughout the country will begin receiving census questionnaires designed to determine the size and makeup of the U. S. population, as mandated by Article 1 of the Constitution. These findings determine each State's Congressional representation, County district lines, school district borders and regional planning. This year, the Census Bureau has made this a simple effort to get everyone to participate in order to get accurate information. I hope all of you will participate in the upcoming Census.

Next, we have contracted with St. Louis County to handle all occupancy permit inspections and other code enforcement services for the Village. When selling your home or changing renters, the home must first be inspected for re-occupancy. We follow the same codes as St. Louis County for all plumbing, electrical, HVAC and building requirements. To apply for an inspection, please come to the Village office and complete an application, which in turn will be faxed to St. Louis County and then one of St. Louis County's inspectors will contact you to set up an appointment. More information can be seen on our website or by calling the office at 636-225-7873.

In an effort to keep the Village the wonderful place it is to live and raise a family, the Board approved the utilization of the International Property Maintenance Code. At the beginning of the year, St. Louis County inspectors will take an inventory of the Village for those not in compliance with this code. Items that they will be reviewing include, chipped paint, broken siding and fascia, gutters, trash or debris in yards, trash cans in front yards and any other items within the code that are not in compliance. Letters will be sent to those homeowners that are in need of repairs and all residents not in compliance will have until March 1st as a grace period to allow plenty of time to repair or remove these items. At the beginning of March, another Village inventory will be completed and if these repairs have not been addressed, further action will be taken.

I hope among the hustle and bustle of the holiday, that you are able to take time to really enjoy your family and friends as that is really what is most important.

Sincerely,

Paul Brockmann

Police Safety Tips

Regarding 2010 Census

With the U.S. Census process beginning, the Better Business Bureau advises residents to be cooperative but cautious when dealing with those workers coming to your door. How will you know a real Census worker from a con artist? All Census bureau workers will have a badge, a handhold device, a Census Bureau canvas bag and a confidentiality notice. Ask to see their identification before answering their questions. While Census workers will ask for basic financial information such as salary range, they will not ask for your social security number, credit card or bank account numbers. Census workers will contact you by phone later in the process, but never by e-mail, so delete any messages that say they are from the Census Bureau.
